Welcome to all!

Another half term comes to an end, and what a good half-term it's been too!

At the beginning of the half-term we had Comic Relief, with children and staff wearing something red to school and donating money for the good cause.

Class 3 visited the Anglo Saxon village at West Stow, near Bury St Edmunds, on Tuesday 2nd April. It was a long way (60 miles) to travel, but well worth it.

A man dressed in Anglo Saxon clothing showed us how to use bellows, told us that Anglo Saxon children would not have attended school. (Anglo Saxon house pictured).

Class 1 went to the Sainsbury's Centre Art Gallery in Norwich UEA which was well engaged by the class.

This half-term saw the first attendance celebration party as well, for the group with the highest overall attendance, this was won by the yellow team.

One of our TAs ran a successful art competition with the winner being one of our secondary children.

Therapy held an Easter egg hunt for all children, which went well.

Wishing you all a Happy Easter.

EASTER
